

DYMONDIA

OVERVIEW

Low growing, creeping ground cover with grey/green leaves and small yellow blooms in the summer. Can withstand light foot traffic. Often used between stone pavers, on slopes for erosion control, or cascading down rock gardens.

WATER

Drought tolerant once established, but needs regular water for the first season to establish deep roots and outcompete weeds.

LIGHT

Full sun

SOIL

Plant is tolerant of any soil type as long as it is well drained, it does not tolerate soggy soil.